R. 1:34-6 Office of Foreclosure –The amount due schedule includes a late fee due on maturity of $227,500.00 based on 5% of the principal balance. This is not mentioned by the note and unless it is specifically provided for by the loan instruments, this amount will have to be removed.

Please provide the loan instrument that describes such late fees and please specifically point out where in the loan papers said late fees provisions are described. It is further noted that the $4,550,000.00 that the aforementioned 5% late fees are charged should actually be $3,150,000.00 since the principal balance should be reduced by the credit for amount in reserve of $1,400,000.00. Accordingly, the late fee due on maturity would be $157,500.00 based on 5% of the principal balance. The proposed final judgment and writ of execution list a contract rate of 8.5% on the total unpaid principal balance of $4,550,000.00. However, this amount should be reduced by the credit for amount in reserve of $1,400,000.00 and therefore the contract interest rate mentioned by the judgment and writ should be $3,150,000.00.
